As we reflect on this past year, our 170th year, we look back with great pride - and we look forward with even greater enthusiasm. It is our distinct privilege to lead this incredible organization into the next chapter of our history of serving children and families. This year also marked a pivot in our strategic direction. After five years of productive collaboration, we decided to end our formal affiliation with Four Oaks. We are grateful for their alliance during a tumultuous time when both of our agencies needed shelter to weather the storm of funding instability.

"Alone we can do so little, Together we can do so much." - Helen Keller

This simple, yet extremely powerful, statement is a guiding philosophy for us at Family Resources. It's our true belief in the power of partnerships that has helped us adapt, grow and sustain as an organization since 1849. Now, as we look forward, the horizon is bright with opportunities for new and enhanced partnerships that will strengthen our mission and support our work on behalf of children and families throughout the communities we serve.

We know that we cannot do this work alone. The challenges our clients face are far too great for any one organization to tackle on their own. We are stronger when we connect passion to purpose and engage with partners that help us as an agency continue to develop, evolve and grow. You'll hear us using that phrase "passion to purpose" a lot this year. It's an appreciation for the staff, board members, volunteers, donors, community organizations and other stakeholders that have a true passion for helping others and put that passion to work in their own special way; helping us to have a greater impact for those that need us – an impact you'll see reflected in the following pages of this report.

Family Resources has been here – serving children and families for 170 years – because of great partners like you. This Annual Report honors you and your intention to put passion to purpose. With your support, we'll continue to be a safe place for those in need for another 170 years.

With sincere gratitude,

Nicole Cisne Durbin, President

Family Resources has been essential to my family's welfare.

My advocate is so wonderful and caring. I am truly thankful for the assistance I have received at the shelter and from the staff there, because I don't know what condition my life would be in if I was not able to come to Family Resources.

Family Resources is more than just a job to me...it's become my purpose in life to use the pain I have been through to help others.

I am there for survivors in their worst moments, and I am able to support, encourage and empower them to become the survivors that they are meant to be.

"My mission in life is to connect myself with any opportunity that would allow me to advocate for women, children and cancer survivors. Once I was introduced to Family Resources, I knew I had to be a part of their energy, passion and dedication to the youth in our community that need our services. I learned at a very early age that we always need to give of ourselves where our knowledge and skills find a place where we can make a difference. I hope I am fulfilling that commitment."

TOTAL OUTREACH PARTICIPANTS/ATTENDEES

I felt immediately connected to Family Resources' mission-driven passion for serving children and families, which is so closely aligned to the mission of community colleges – to which I have devoted a 42-year career.

Family Resources changes, and often, saves lives. It helps build a better community, and makes sure no one in need is left behind. I am proud to have had the opportunity to help Family Resources live out its crucial mission."
